The marriage of Miss Rose Hite, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hite, to Mr. Grady Montgomery, was the event of social importance of the day. It took place at two o'clock this afternoon at the First Presbyterian church, by Dr. S. S. Estey.

The utmost simplicity characterized the service. There were no attendants or any wedding music, and the guests were only the members of the Hite and Montgomery families.

The brdle wore a handsome sut of brown geberdine cloth trimmed with fur. The jacket was a smart redingote, with collar and cuffs of fur. The blouse was brown satin combined with gold lace. It was made with high standaway collar, and with pleated tabs at the back, reaching over the back of the skirt. Her shoes were bronze, and her hat was a brown velvet, large size, with scalloped brim, and trimmed with Paradise feathers. She carried an arm bouquet of large yellow chrysanthemums.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery left for a trp east. They will be at home after November 1, at 915 Harrison street. Both the young people are well liked socially, and their marriage is of a good deal of interest among the society people.

Mrs. D. J. Hathaway gave a luncheon today in compliment to Miss Addie Hathaway, of Los Angeles, California, who is a guest at her home. The luncheon was given at one o'clock, at Mrs. Hathaway's home in Western avenue. Miss Hathaway will leave early next week for her home.

Hill and Miss Gladys Nell were hostesses at a dancing party Friday night at Kellam hall, for some of their young friends.

Hall's orchestra played for the dance, and the hall was made attractive in autumn decorations and palms. The room was fitted up with cozy corners furnished with seats and screened with palms and autumn boughs. Jardinieres of sumach completed the decorations.

The party was chaperoned by Miss Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clark, Miss Neil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Neil, and Miss Hill's father, Mr. C. M. Hill, and by Mrs. James Sproat. Receiving with Miss Clark, Miss Neil and Miss Hill, were Mr. Kenneth Adams, Mr. Roger Savage, and Mr. Alden Weighman.

The hostesses are "three little maids from school," who are soon to be entering the debutante class, and will doubtless be among the future belles in local society circles. Miss Clark was dressed in pink silk and net, and Miss Neil wore embroidered pink crepe voile. Miss Hill wore cerise silk, the flounces that formed the skirt accordion pleated, and the bodice was of black velvet.

A very serious accident was narrowly averted last Tuesday morning as the second car was on its way to town. The motorman, Clyde Redenbaugh, had been giving the passengers a merry ride for their money all the way in and finally in coming down the grade north of Twenty-first street at about a 20-mile an hour clip the car jumped the track just north of the chicken ranch and ran almost off the railway right of way. It was a miracle that the car did not overturn. If it had the 14 pasengers that were on the car would have been killed or badly crippled. As it was they all received a severe shaking up and are more or less bruised by the sudden stopping of the car.
